With plans to corral 10,000 screaming fans with nine bands in one day this weekend, the folks at Sonic 102.9 are going out with a boom.

The anticipated Sonic Boom festival will take over Northlands Park on Saturday, in an event predicted to change the face of the Festival City scene.

"It's going to be a full day of modern rock in Edmonton — it's one thing that's missing from the festival landscape in this city," said organizer Dave Johnston.

The event kicks off at the south end of Northlands' grounds at noon with locals, The Wet Secrets.

Headlined by Billy Talent, the lineup boasts acts like Girl Talk, Metric, Franz Ferdinand and Alexisonfire.

"It's going to be cool — we're good pals with Billy Talent, so we're excited to fly out to Edmonton to play with them," Alexisonfire guitarist Dallas Green told Metro. "There's something about playing for a ton of people who have been standing outside going nuts listening to music all day — it's a completely different animal than your own show."

"There's something about playing for a ton of people who have been standing outside going nuts listening to music all day." Dallas Green, Alexisonfire

MC Jason Mewes (of Jay and Silent Bob fame) will narrate the day's events, which include local amateur wrestling and band meet-and-greets.

Johnston says though the weather is expected to cooperate, ticket holders should view the festival's website (sonicboomfestival.ca) to check which weather-ready items to bring.

The event is expected to go annual, Johnston said, as overwhelming anticipation chatter from both invited bands and frenzied fans has foreshadowed its future.

"Summer is the time to get out and enjoy festivals," Green said. "People better be ready to run around and have as much fun as we're having on stage."

Tickets (including late released VIPs) are still available through the festival's website.

Surface routes planned for LRT

LINDA HOANG
for Metro Edmonton

TRANSIT The recommended west and southeast LRT routes were announced Thursday, routes which will have the ability to take a rider from west of the city all the way to Mill Woods in one single ride.

The west LRT corridor will go from Lewis Estates east along 87 Avenue, and will connect to downtown via Stony Plain Road, while the southeast corridor will travel from Mill Woods north through 75 Street, and Connors Rd. to downtown. The two corridors will link into one complete line.

One major difference in the new routes from the current LRT system is that this will be a surface, street-level LRT system.

"This is more urban, low-floored, and fits into the neighbourhoods and roadways with smaller scale stations," said Bob Boutilier, general manager of transportation. "It's truly a system that you can fit within existing neighbourhoods and use as a tool to promote redevelopment in other areas."

In order to make the LRT street-level, some four-lane roads will be reduced to two-lane roads with one-way traffic going in either direction.

Some current bus routes will also be removed once the LRT is finally put in place.

Bizarre driving leads to charges

CHARGED On Aug. 4, a motorist was spotted by a citizen bouncing off of curbs and travelling from lane to lane in the area of 23 Avenue and 50 Street.

When police were finally able to locate the suspect vehicle they found it swerving in the lane, cutting other motorists off and travelling at a high rate of speed. Fearing for the public's safety, officers stopped the vehicle.

The suspect vehicle then allegedly drove forward into one of the police cruisers, which had its lights and sirens on.

The suspect was ordered out of the vehicle and was arrested.

Thirty-eight-year-old Natasha Bakala was charged with Impaired Driving and Driving Over the Legal Limit.

From Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, the EPS had received 6,087 calls from citizens reporting suspected impaired drivers on Edmonton streets. METRO EDMONTON

Arts Days are coming, Alberta

Festival will showcase talent across the province in more than 302 events

for Metro Edmonton

Soulful music filled the auditorium at the Royal Alberta Museum Thursday, as musician James Clarke, 19, delivered a taste of what's to come on Alberta Arts Days.

Clarke, an up-and-coming musician and classically trained pianist, will be participating in the three-day arts and culture celebration taking place across the province this Sept 18 - 20.

"I think the arts are never really given enough credit as it deserves," Clarke said.

He hopes Alberta Arts Days will help showcase the city and the province's artistic talent.

Currently, more than 302 arts events in 71 communities in Alberta are being planned for Arts Days, with all provincially owned historic sites and museums offering free admission.

"Our vision for Arts

Days is for all Albertans to discover, experience, and celebrate a unique blend of peoples and passions and the importance of arts and culture to a healthy and vital Alberta," said Heather Klimchuk, minister of Service Alberta and a local artist herself.

Live music performances, art displays, talent shows and more are just some of the events planned for Arts Days.

"If you just look even barely under the surface of the Edmonton music and arts scene, there's so much raw talent available and upcoming artists and people with so much creative passion behind them," Clarke said.

Greyhound Canada putting on the brakes?

KRISTA SYLVESTER
Metro Canada

Alberta Greyhound passengers are anxiously waiting after Greyhound Canada announced they will be reviewing routes in Alberta after making cuts to services in other provinces.

Glenda Lamont, a spokesperson for Greyhound, told Metro while the transportation organization will be reviewing routes in the province, she said it's too early to tell where the impact would be felt.

"There has been no decisions made yet, you have to understand this has been a very difficult decision for us. We just can't keep supporting unprofitable routes," Lamont said. Her comments come after Greyhound announced cutting services in Manitoba in 30 days and in northwestern Ontario by Dec. 2. Besides Alberta, they are also reviewing BC, Sask. the Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

In Edmonton, Jesse House, a kidney transplant patient, said he uses the bus to get to medical appointments from Grande Prairie, Alta.

He pays $79 for the bus trip, but a plane ride would cost almost $500.

"The bus is the only affordable way for me to come for my medical appointments. I can't drive because of my condition."

The bus line is asking the federal government for financial assistance.

The Steve and Jack show?

Layton leads Harper in dance around looming election

Stephen Harper and Jack Layton took the first steps Thursday in a political tango that could decide if the country is headed for a fall election.

The prime minister and the NDP leader both said they want Parliament to work. But each looked to the other to take the lead.

Layton said it's up to Harper to "reach out" to the opposition if he wants to save his minority government and avoid an election. And he said Harper can't behave as if he has a majority.

"The ball is entirely in Stephen Harper's court," Layton said in Halifax.

The NDP has prided itself on consistently voting against the government and has mocked the Liberals for propping it up.

But New Democrats have been more conciliatory since Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff declared he will try to bring down the government after Parliament resumes Sept. 14. With the Liberals on the warpath, the Tories will need the support of the NDP or Bloc Quebecois.

Layton said Harper knows the proposals the NDP has put before the House of Commons and wants him to move on NDP motions to extend EI benefits, protect pensions, and regulate credit card rates. Layton said the NDP is ready to fight an election if Harper doesn't compromise.

Defence minister fined over conflict of interest

POLITICS Canada's ethics commissioner fined Defence Minister Peter MacKay $200 on Thursday for failing to disclose his involvement as a director and officer of two companies owned by his father.

MacKay resigned from his positions with Beaver Lumber Co. Ltd. and Lorne Resources Co. Ltd., earlier this week after the office of the ethics commissioner contacted him about his involvement in those companies.

In a letter sent Thursday to MacKay, ethics commissioner Mary Dawson levied a $200 penalty for what she said was a "serious contravention" of the Conflict of Interest Act.

The act forbids cabinet ministers from serving as a director or officer in a corporation.

In an interview, MacKay said the mistake was inadvertent.

Gunmen kill 18 in drug rehab

Neighbours mopped blood from the sidewalk outside a drug rehabilitation centre Thursday, cleaning up the carnage after gunmen lined up patients against a wall then riddled them with bullets, killing 18.

It was the third attack on a drug treatment centre in Ciudad Juarez. Chihuahua state authorities said Thursday they were investigating reports that the centres have turned into hideouts for drug smugglers being sought by police and hit men from rival gangs.

Public Safety Secretary Genaro Garcia Luna, Mexico's top law enforcement official, said rehab clinics were also being used as recruiting and training centres by drug cartels. He told The Associated Press in an exclusive interview that a recently detained drug suspect belonging to the La Familia cartel oversaw various private, non-profit drug rehab centres across western Michoacan state. The suspect, Rafael Cedenio, claimed to have trained 9,000 recruits for the cartel in 2008.

Bloody footprints tracked from the door of the humble cinderblock Aliviane centre remained on Thursday, as federal police and soldiers stood guard.

At 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, about eight gunmen broke down a door at the centre, lined their victims against a wall and shot them dead, authorities said. Police said one man died Thursday and another remained hospitalized.

Little information about the victims was available. Sobbing mothers and wives gathered outside the prosecutors' offices to demand answers and find out whether their loved ones were among the dead.

Elisabeth Quintero, 32, said she lost her son, 16; her younger brother, 28; and her cousin, 21.

Canada still in recession?

Think-tank projects shrinkage

An international economic think-tank is declaring Canada is still in recession, an assessment that is at odds with the Bank of Canada and most private sector analysts.

The Paris-based Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development says Canada's economy will continue to shrink in the current quarter at a rate of two per cent, in contrast with the Bank of Canada's contention that the recession has ended.

In July, the central bank predicted the current quarter will see a 1.3 per cent growth.

"I don't know too many people who think that (the OECD forecast)," said Avery Shenfeld, the chief economist with CIBC World Markets.

"It doesn't sound current with the data," pointing out that Statistics Canada said last week the Canadian economy began growing, although only a smidgen, as early as June.

The OECD projection is also far more gloomy about Canada in the fourth quarter, putting growth at a minuscule 0.4 per cent, compared to the Bank of Canada's three per cent growth projection. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Numbers don't add up

Puzzling expenses, financial reporting at Ontario lottery corp.

InBusiness

Charles
Davies

metronews.ca/inbusiness

Like most people, I'm amazed at the expense claims filed by executives of the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corp. After all, what reasonable adult with a sense of propriety would assume it's justifiable to expense car detailing, dry cleaning, golf memberships, or annual credit card fees? Not to mention the coffee, doughnuts and that reusable Sobey's grocery bag. People who do stuff like that used to be called chisellers, and even in this age of entitlement, it's deplorable.

I'm also astonished by Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty's solution — other than firing OLG's CEO and board — which is to make the province's integrity commissioner responsible for overseeing expenses at OLG and 22 other provincial agencies and boards. How much sense does it make to have the commissioner and her staff of nine vet all those expense reports when you could take existing provincial expense policies, shore them up where necessary, and tell management of all those agencies and boards to apply them religiously on pain of losing their jobs? To make sure, there will be spot checks, like urine tests for athletes.

But forget the food, drink and other indulgences. What truly astounds me is how OLG's free-spending management has been getting away with such sketchy financial reporting. Based on the available financial evidence — and if you visit the OLG website, you'll see it's scant — OLG might not be an operation you would want to invest in. The one annual report posted on the site is for the pre-recession year ended March 31, 2007, and it shows OLG with net income of $1.67 billion on revenues of $6 billion. That's obviously a good margin, yet it was nearly six per cent less than OLG earned the previous year. Unlike most corporate annual reports, OLG provides no five- or 10-year comparisons, so we don't know whether revenues and earnings are growing or shrinking.

The site does, however, have quarterly reports showing five years of unaudited revenue figures for resort casinos and OLG casinos and slots ending with the 2008 fiscal year. Revenues in these categories, which normally provide more than 55 per cent of net income, are running three per cent lower than they were five years ago. As for the lottery and bingo revenues that generate the remaining profits, OLG tells us nothing, although a recent Statistics Canada study noted these activities levelled off in 2005 and actually dropped in 2008.

I'll give you odds they haven't improved since then.

Calculator puts U.S. debt into perspective

The U.S. national debt is so large, it doesn't even fit on most calculators.

Western Colorado real estate developer Matt Miles says he was concerned that no one in government, nor most Americans, had ever seen the number. So he made a new calculator.

The "Big Red" calculator displays 16 digits. That's enough to show all the numbers in the national debt, which totalled nearly $11.8 trillion US — or $11,792,918,170,836.43 — at the start of September.

Miles says he wants to get people thinking about how much the United States owes. He wouldn't say how much he invested to launch Big Red, but he says the number fits comfortably on a standard calculator.

Big Red's price needs only four digits. It's on sale for $12.99 at Amazon.com.

Forward thinking needed for arena plans

UrbanCompass

Terence
Harding

metronews.ca/harding

Was anyone really surprised by the Katz Group's announcement that it was going ahead with planning for a downtown arena? I suspect not.

The development of an arena cum entertainment complex replete with retail stores and student housing looks like just the thing for helping punt Edmonton's downtown into the 21st century. Revitalizing the downtown has been the mantra of every mayor for the past 20 years. Developing the space around the Baccarat Casino would certainly improve the look and feel of an area that is a major contributor to Edmonton's urban blight. I also think it would kick-start further development in the area.

However, we must remember that this is Edmonton, a city with a long history of doing exactly the wrong thing, especially when it concerns the downtown. Examples of what I am talking about are easy to find. Sir Winston Churchill Park is a case in point. A lot of tax money went into removing trees and grass and replacing them with soulless concrete. This is the city that let a suburban shopping mall be placed in the centre of downtown.

Our municipal mavens also thought the ugly planters that divide Jasper Avenue were a good idea.

Examples of architecture that wouldn't be out of place in a "how not to design a building" manual abound in Edmonton, all of which were approved by City Hall.

But maybe now things will be different. Maybe we can mandate a downtown arena that's a signature building with real architectural merit. We have a mayor that has said he doesn't want to see any more crappy architecture in the downtown. That would appear to be a good sign. However, when you look at the aluminum cladding that was added to the addition on the old Bay building, one has to wonder if that statement is anything more than just words.

For the record, I support a downtown arena. The more reasons for people to come to the downtown the better. However, I don't support developing an arena that will end up being the focal point of a parking lot. I'd rather look at the Baccarat Casino than thousands of square metres of pavement.

If it is decided that this plan should get the city's seal of approval, it should come with all kinds of development standards that ensure it is truly an asset to the downtown.

Storm on the horizon

NHLPA trouble doesn't bode well for league, fans

Field of Play

Scott Russell

metronews.ca/fieldofplay

Just when you figure hockey is above it all — it looks like it's time to reconsider.

The recent firing of NHLPA boss Paul Kelly is the latest in a series of signs that suggests what is arguably the greatest professional team sport in the world is headed for hard times once more.

Just think about it.

During Kelly's tenure of slightly less than two years have we heard much about that ugly phrase, "The Collective Bargaining Agreement?" Have we worried to any great extent about work stoppages or franchise losses in the heartland Canadian cities of the NHL like Edmonton, Calgary, Ottawa or Montreal?

The answer is no.

Instead we've witnessed the ripening of stars like Sidney Crosby and Alex Ovechkin and seen the continued maturing of the NHL where all teams have the prospect of succeeding because they have similar ambitions to have the best players on side.

If hockey goes back to the union hard liners, as the dismissal of the moderate Kelly foreshadows, the game at its highest level will surely return to a dark era in which the "big market" clubs have all the clout and the "have-not" cities merely tread water.

Nobody wants this — not while the lost season of 2004-05 is still fresh in most fans' recollection.

Hockey has enough to deal with in this day of fragmentation and entertainment abundance. It does not need a renaissance of worker-management trash talk that will definitely cause a further distraction from the beauty that occurs on the ice.

At its best, hockey is speed and skill and intense rivalry. You can barely sit in your seat if you're in the arena or dare to sneak to the bathroom when you're at home watching on TV. You dare not miss a thing.

At its worst, hockey is played by lawyers in backrooms far away from the ice bickering about salary caps and entry-level compensation or, horror of horrors, restricted free-agency regulations.

There's way too much talk about the NHLPA in the news these days. Sadly that spells stormy weather on hockey's horizon.

Sports in brief

OILERS The Edmonton Oilers have appointed Mike Sillinger their new director of player development. The 38-year-old native of Regina moves into the position after a 17-year playing career. "We are very excited to have Mike fill such an important role with us," said Oilers GM Steve Tambellini. Sillinger has played for 12 NHL teams, most recently suiting up for the New York Islanders last season.

FIBA Canada's men's basketball team defeated Panama 97-65 at the FIBA Americas tournament Thursday to remain in the running for a berth in next year's world basketball championships in Turkey.

NBA Bruce Bowen won't be pestering the NBA's best anymore. The former San Antonio Spurs forward retired Thursday after 12 seasons and a reputation as one of the league's most menacing defenders, hounding opponents with a tenacity that some players groused was more dirty than dogged.

Sisterhood on rampage in horror thriller Sorority Row

CHRIS ALEXANDER
for Metro Canada

Is there anything more moving than the bond shared between women? That primal connection which aligns females all over the world as sisters? Laughing together, crying together, playing together, killing together, dying together ...

In Stewart Hendler's new horror thriller Sorority Row (a loose remake of the cult classic '80s slasher The House on Sorority Row), that lethal turn of estrogen blending is exactly what happens.

The film stars celebrity offspring Rumer Willis (daughter of Bruce Willis and Demi Moore ... and stepdaughter to Ashton Kutcher) as the shy member of a group of sorority sisters whose not-so innocent prank involving one of their flock goes horribly, fatally awry.

When they attempt to cover up their grisly crime, the former BFF's turn on each other, secrets are exposed and a masked serial killer begins murdering them one by one.

"My character is a bit of nerd, an innocent," says Willis of her seemingly less manipulative role. "She's the voice of reason. She's part of the gang and becomes caught up in the crisis, but she's still somewhat on the sidelines. She can't quite fit in with the rest of the girls."

The film trades in cheese-cake imagery, ripe melodrama and graphic horror, but — as Willis claims — Sorority Row's bloody tongue is wedged firmly in cheek.

"It definitely has comedy in it," says the actress. "It's an odd juxtaposition with the pretty girls and humour and the heavy gore. But I really think we didn't push it as far as it could have gone. I mean there's face ripping and stuff, but this is definitely not Hostel."

All About Steve

Director: Phil Traill
Stars: Sandra Bullock, Thomas Haden Church, Bradley Cooper
Classification: STC
Rating: ●●●

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

REVIEW Awkward behaviour is a comedy staple. Create a character who says the wrong thing at the wrong time and you've got yourself some chuckles. However, it is a delicate balancing act.

It's perfectly fine if a character annoys everyone onscreen, but once the audience is annoyed you've got problems. Unfortunately the protagonist of All About Steve would irritate anyone with a pulse.

Sandra Bullock stars as a crossword writer who can't keep herself from spitting out every obscure fact that pops into her head. By the time the film ends we're expected to embrace her foibles, but sadly she's just too obnoxious and one note for that to ever be possible.

Part of the problem is that the movie loses focus early on. The film starts with Bullock being set up on a date with pretty boy Hangover star Bradley Cooper, who is immediately put off by her. However, Bullock is undeterred and starts following Cooper's news team around the country.

It certainly doesn't help that 30 minutes in she gets lost in the shuffle and the film is given over to a collection of recognizable comedy costars like Thomas Haden Church's arrogant news anchor, Ken Jeong's pushover assistant, DJ Qualls' obsessive apple carver and others.

The problem is that the script was obviously rewritten to accommodate all the actors, and in the last half of All About Steve it's difficult to tell who the movie is even about.

Animation takes a dark turn in Elijah Wood film

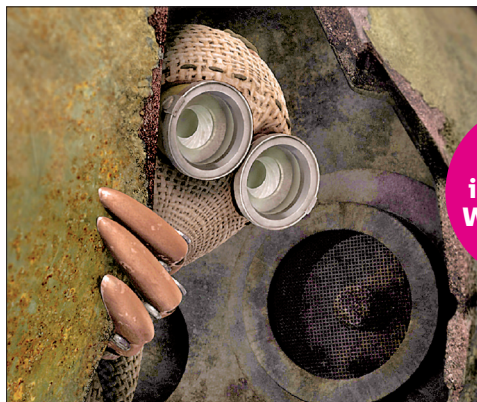

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

At next year's Comic-Con, if you see someone who's a little short to be a stormtrooper, chances are it won't be Elijah Wood.

Though the instantly recognizable Lord of the Rings star acknowledges he'd need a disguise to be able to walk the floor of the San Diego Convention Center without getting mobbed, he's looking for something a little less bulky.

"A stormtrooper would be rad, but it would be really hot. It may not be very enjoyable," Wood admits. "Maybe just a burglar or something. Something really basic so that I could hide my face."

When Wood stopped by Comic-Con in July to promote his new animated film, 9, he didn't get much opportunity to check out the scene — costume or no costume.

In the film 9, Elijah Wood voices nine stitched dolls who come to life in a post-apocalyptic world devoid of humanity.

"After a full day of press, the last place I wanted to go is back to the Convention Center," he says. "What I'd like to do is go on a year that I'm not working at the festival." He'd better start planning his costume now, then.

In 9, Wood voices the latest of nine stitched dolls come to life that are all that's left of humanity in a post-apocalyptic world.

Though it's not Wood's first foray into animation, the film is a far cry from his last project, Happy Feet. And that's just fine with him.

"I'm always just simply looking for something that is different from anything I've done. Both as an actor, to continue to challenge myself, but also in terms of storytelling and kinds of movies," Wood says.

He also has a soft spot for animation in general, though he regrets the stigma the genre has stateside.

"It's only in America that animation has been delineated as being only for kids. It's a mentality. In Japan and in Europe, they make animated movies for everybody, to tell different kinds of stories."

More silly than satire

Extract

Director: Mike Judge

Stars: Jason Bateman, Mila Kunis

Classification: STC

Rating: ●●●●

STEVE GOW
for Metro Canada

REVIEW With his 1999 cult-hit comedy Office Space, filmmaker Mike Judge won over audiences by tapping into the trivialities of the working stiff. Now, the man who also created TV's King of the Hill is back on the job with Extract.

This time, however, Judge has set his latest laughter at a small-town extract factory where Joel (Jason Bateman) manages a mélange of uncooperative misfits. When an attractive, young grifter (Mila Kunis) suddenly gets hired on, Joel is bolstered by the prospect of pepping up his boring life with the notion of an affair.

Coached by his bartending bro (Ben Affleck) during one inebriated evening, Joel regrettably agrees to hire a gigolo to seduce his wife (SNL's Kristen Wiig) in order to alleviate the subsequent guilt of his anticipated infidelity.

Compared to Office Space, Extract is small on satire and more focused on silly situational comedy. In that sense, Judge lacks focus on the narrative leaving the audience to follow the meandering, wandering structure on their own. Luckily though, Judge's strength lies more in developing detailed characters that shine in satirical specificities.

While Bateman easily fits into the role of stupefied straight man, his supporting cast resonates with blue-collar authenticity. But the true scene-stealer in Extract is comic-actor David Koechner (Anchorman) who remarkably manages to capture the riotous nuances of that annoying suburban neighbour who just doesn't know how to take a hint.

Having activated their Canadian banking account while still in Bangalore (India), they were also able to transfer their funds to Canada with great ease – something that was not possible before Scotiabank launched the Scotiabank StartRight™ program for newcomers to Canada.

Baskar was one of the first applicants in India to take advantage of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “We had an account with Scotiabank in Canada within a week of applying in India, and within two or three weeks, we had remitted funds to Canada,” he says.

Rania Llewellyn, Vice-President, Multicultural Banking at Scotiabank, says Canada receives approximately 250,000 new immigrants a year. She adds “While a very significant proportion of these are from South Asia, China and the Philippines, the Scotiabank StartRight Program addresses the needs of all new immigrants, wherever they come from.”

Establishing credit history in Canada is vital

Having worked in the US with KPMG for a year, Baskar says he knew it was important to get his credit history meter ticking as soon as possible. “With the Scotiabank StartRight Program, I was able to do so on day one.”

Sushma has also taken advantage of the small safety deposit box<sup>1</sup> offered free for a year as part of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “Our focus group discussions show new immigrants place a high value on safety deposit boxes and getting a credit card,” says Pankaj Mehra, Director, India and South Asian Markets. very substantial gold and jewellery markets in India,” says Mehra. “In the Canadian context, what this means is that Scotiabank clients can invest in gold by getting coins and gold bars, and invest in other precious metals at our branches across Canada”

Getting settled – one step at a time

Baskar landed a job as an internal auditor, a month into the job hunt. “I’d been prepared to take whatever came my way as it is not good to sit idle, so it feels great to land a job in my field.” With the financial pressure off, Sushma was better able to concentrate on her own job hunt. She had met consultants, applied for positions, and eventually landed a job with Research in Motion.

When their immigration papers came through, Baskar says his father and brother advised him to move to Canada with his wife rather than coming alone first, finding a job and then getting her to join him. “Enjoy both the hardships and the happiness together,” they said.

Things which can be overwhelming for a new immigrant were handled with such ease thanks to the friendly and helpful people at Scotiabank. Honestly, I don’t see us facing any hardships,” says Baskar. “Scotiabank helped us skip a few steps by starting us off on the right note while we were still in India – I call it the Dummies’ Guide to Banking! The Scotiabank StartRight Program opened the doors for us to our new life.”

Feeling at home in Canada

The Raos enjoyed their first Canadian winter this year. “Shovelling was fun – I was an apprentice to my brother!” laughs Baskar who was living together with his brother then. Sushma thinks Spring is beautiful and is looking forward to enjoying the beauty of each season as it unfolds – though we feel this summer hasn’t been anything to talk about.

“We love Canada,” says Sushma.

“Bangalore is multicultural in the local sense, Canada is multicultural in the international context. We fit right in. We feel at home!”

Hiring people from within the community

Making new immigrants feel at home are Scotia® advisors like Jaswant Thind, who apply their own experiences as new immigrants in their interactions with the bank’s clients.

With several years of experience in sales and finance in Punjab, India, Thind landed a transition job the day after landing at Pearson International. “When I got my first cheque a week later, I didn’t have an account to deposit it in” he recalls. Today, a financial advisor at Scotiabank’s Queen Street branch in Brampton, Thind advises newcomers on issues vital to their settling in well in their new country.

“I see people who have been in Canada for three or four years and still don’t have a credit card. They come from cash societies where credit card use is still to catch on in a big way. I tell them to apply for a no-fee credit card<sup>2</sup> through the Scotiabank StartRight Program; and that without a credit history, they will find it next to impossible to get a mortgage, or a car loan.”

He says people often feel more comfortable discussing their finances in their own language and he is happy to speak to customers in Punjabi. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better.”

Aware of the value South Asians place on education, he also advises them to invest in RESPs to finance their children’s higher studies. Thind is active in the community and says people will often approach him at the gurudwara (Sikh temple of worship) or at malls and parks to ask for financial tips. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better,” says Thind.

“At Scotiabank, we realize the importance of building a workforce that truly reflects the communities we serve” says Rania Llewellyn. The Bank embraces diversity in all its facets, and its culture is based on community and teamwork. “We even participate in programs that provide career opportunities to new immigrants”, she adds.

Scotia advisors like Jaswant Thind can serve new immigrants in many different languages.

It's through the history the great religions have spoken to the return of a future Teacher. The Christians hope for the return of the Christ, the Buddhists look for the coming of a new Buddha, while the Muslims await the Imam Madhi, the Hindus a reincarnation of Krishna and the Jews the Messiah. How will we know Him? Surely He will ring our hearts with a message of sharing, justice and brotherhood. How can we prepare the way for Him? Each day brings opportunities, large and small, to act in favor of unity and justice. Our willingness to share will make a real difference in our world.

U.K. rockers Band of Skulls reboot to find right sound

BRYAN BORZYKOWSKI
for Metro Canada

It might seem like Band of Skulls, the latest U.K. rock group to make waves in North America, came out of nowhere — they played their first gig in 2008 — but this trio has actually been making music together for years.

The group formed more than four and a half years ago, playing under the name Fleeing New York. And while they released some music and toured England, they could never catch a real break.

"We always believed our work was good enough, but it was hard to get that chance," says lead singer Russell Marsden. "But that was the band we used to be, we ended up making the band we were always going to be."

Becoming that band, however, didn't happen over night. Marsden, drummer Matthew Hayward and bassist Emma Richardson had to redefine their sound, fire their manager and, basically, start from scratch.

Band of Skulls' debut album Baby Darling Doll Face Honey was released this week. The band is currently touring Canada.

That might seem silly, especially since their previous outfit was starting to build a following, but Marsden says changing direction was liberating.

"For a while we were just writing under no name," he explains. "It just felt right and gave us a feeling of a new beginning, of freedom, of being able to do anything we wanted."

What Band of Skulls did was create Baby Darling Doll Face Honey, a sludgy blues rock album that sounds similar to The Dead Weather, or at least a new Jack White side project. "I'm not a devotee," says Marsden about White, "but I love his rawness and I we're probably into lots of the same bands."

The singer and guitarist explains that in making this record the group "simplified things. We got back to the reason we started playing music, for the fun of it." And while the music sounds sparse — it's mostly big riffs and bluesy vocals — they leave the right amount of space and mess around with their guitars just enough to make this much more than a White copycat. "We want a challenge, so we write beyond our abilities and then try to get better."

Writing complex music isn't the only reason why the threesome has finally made a name for themselves — their chemistry is evident on their debut.

Still, despite working together for years, Marsden says Band of Skulls feels like a new band. "All those early shows were great experiences," he says. "But it does feel new. We have an album out that people can actually own. It's strange to go to a new town where people know all about you."

Remastering The Beatles

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

Most people have forgotten that the Beatles were latecomers to the compact disc. Apple Corps, the organization entrusted with protecting the Beatles' legacy, stubbornly stuck with issuing material on vinyl until discs started rolling out in 1987.

But those original Beatles CDs really weren't anything special. They sounded fine — the analogue-to-digital transfer technology they used was the best of its day — but by later standards, they sound harsh. The packaging and the liner notes were basic and dull, devoid of any history or context. Bonus tracks or alternate mixes? Sorry, just the standard 30 to 36 minutes per disc.

This, however, will all change on Wednesday when all the original U.K. albums along with Magical Mystery Tour and Past Masters — not to mention the Beatles edition Rock Band — hits stores.

A dedicated team at Abbey Road spent months using digital filters and other electronic tricks to clean up and tweak the original master tapes. The refurbished versions sparkle with a clarity unheard in Beatles recordings until now. You hear things — snare buzzes, fingers moving on strings, growls in the voice — that had been submerged in the murk.

The super hardcore fan will go for the box set which features the mono mixes (The Beatles came late to stereo, too, with the first ten albums recorded that way). But the stereo mixes are also brilliant, showing off George Martin's skill as a producer.

Laura Leighton reprises her role as Sydney on Melrose Place.

New paint, same drama

Updated Melrose borrows from the original, including characters

AMBER RAY
Metro World News

In 2009, Sydney Andrews appears to be alive and well — never mind the fact that she got run over by a car on her wedding day on Melrose Place 12 years ago.

These days, the black-mail expert is once again living at 4616 Melrose, now serving as landlady — and trouble-making instigator — to a new group of 20-somethings looking to make it big in Los Angeles.

Laura Leighton reprises her role as Sydney in the CW's update of the prime-time soap opera, premiering Wednesday at 10 p.m., and it didn't take much arm-twisting to get her back.

"I found they had an approach to the show that incorporated my character in a very unique way," Leighton explains. "Playing Sydney the first time was such fun, and there was no downside to coming back to play her again."

Not even the tragedy that strikes her character very early on in the new Melrose?

"I think Sydney's always been sort of doomed to be the center of controversy, and she's very much in that position," Leighton admits, before adding optimistically, "You know, I think also that she's always been destined to live in a penthouse. So here she is."

Melrose Place premieres Wednesday at 10 p.m. ET/PT on Global

Jackson buried in Los Angeles

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

PEOPLE More than two months after his unexpected death, singer Michael Jackson was laid to rest Thursday evening during a private ceremony for friends and family at the Forest Lawn Memorial-Park in Glendale, Calif. Jackson was interred in the cemetery's Great Mausoleum, a massive building that holds the remains of stars such as Jean Harlow, Walt Disney and Clark Gable, according to the L.A. Times.

It was decided Wednesday that Jackson's estate would pay the considerable expenses for the burial, which was closed to the public. "The expenses are extraordinary," attorney Jeryll S. Cohen said. "They may not be appropriate for an ordinary person, but Michael Jackson was not ordinary."

Some had suggested his remains would be placed in a crypt owned by Motown founder Berry Gordy Jr., while others claimed Jackson would be buried at his beloved Neverland Ranch in Santa Barbara, which Jackson vacated several years ago. One report even suggested Neverland itself would be relocated to Las Vegas and turned into a museum dedicated to Jackson.

Judges change rules on talent series

TV SERIES The judges on America's Got Talent are breaking the rules.

Instead of choosing between two acts for one coveted spot in the show's final round, Piers Morgan, Sharon Osbourne and David Hasselhoff changed things up Wednesday and invited both acts to return to the NBC talent show.

"Judges can do whatever they want on this show," host Nick Cannon said. "Anything goes."

A trio of tenors, three singing siblings, five dancing sisters, a 75-year-old comedian and a singing chicken farmer will advance to the finals. Five other acts were dismissed during Wednesday's episode.

Viewers selected The Texas Tenors, comedian Grandma Lee and singer Kevin Skinner via phone, email and text message votes.

Hollywood funeral, memorial for DJ AM

IN MOURNING DJ AM was laid to rest Wednesday in a small funeral attended by family members and close friend Travis Barker, people.com reports.

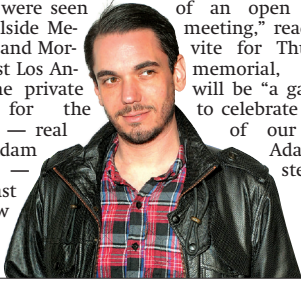

Mourners were seen entering Hillside Memorial Park and Mortuary in West Los Angeles for the private ceremony for the celebrity DJ — real name Adam Goldstein — who died last week in New York.

A memorial for Goldstein was also held Thursday night at the Hollywood Palladium in Los Angeles.

"The format of the evening will be in the style of an open 12-step meeting," read an invite for Thursday's memorial, which will be "a gathering to celebrate the life of our friend Adam Goldstein."

Dean gets even with LeAnn?

EYE FOR AN EYE? As LeAnn Rimes and Eddie Cibrian went public with their relationship in August, her ex Dean Sheremet quietly reached out to Cibrian's ex Brandi Glanville, Us Weekly reports in its latest issue.

"They have been supporting each other," an insider said of the pair, who first met last fall while visiting their spouses on the Calgary set of the Lifetime romance Northern Light. At the time, they didn't know an affair had begun. Now, the source tells Us Weekly, "They've put the pieces together about the last few months, and they're developing a good friendship through this." Adds a Sheremet pal, "They're the ones who understand what the other is feeling."

How is Sheremet, 28, feeling? Friends tell Us Weekly he's struggling.

On Tuesday, Rimes announced on her website that she and Sheremet are divorcing — days after taking a PDA-packed vacation with Cibrian, 36, to Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, to celebrate her 27th birthday.

Asked how it feels to see his ex with Cibrian, Sheremet fought back tears before telling Us Weekly: "I don't really know what to say. It's bizarre. It's surreal. But I'm doing OK."

Kate moved into A-Rod's home?

MOVING QUICKLY Kate Hudson's relationship with New York Yankee Alex Rodriguez is going so well, she's apparently practically moved in with him, according to In Touch.

"Kate's always at his New York apartment, even on the days when he's on the road," a source said. "She's made herself quite comfortable in his life. She's met his oldest daughter and her son likes Alex. Kate has become very serious about him."

Chris might break restraining order?

THE RULES Chris Brown fully intends to honour his court order to stay away from Rihanna for five years, but he's afraid he might accidentally violate it since they show up at a lot of the same events.

"It's hard because we're both in the same industry. We go to the same events," Brown told Larry King.

"We have to be, like, 10 yards away from each other, but I just feel like it's harder, because we're always in the same vicinity, and it leaves more room for error."

Tony's new fling: Chace's baby sister?

THAT WAS FAST Tony Romo has another hot new blonde, usmagazine.com reports. The Dallas Cowboys quarterback, 29, is dating Chace Crawford's little sister, Candice, a 22-year-old beauty queen who looks strikingly similar to Romo's ex Jessica Simpson, a source close to Romo confirms.

"She's not happy that it's out (in the media), but they weren't trying to hide," a source close to Candice told Us the day after celebtv.com first reported the coupling. "They've gone out to dinner in Dallas a bunch."

Daniel no fan of reality stars

THE HOLLYWOOD HIERARCHY Daniel Radcliffe is picky about who he parties with. "I don't get involved with drinking or partying any more. I hate celebrity culture but I'm unavoidably a part of it," the actor told Contact Music.

And while he doesn't mind mixing it up with other A-list celebrities, reality stars are out. "There are people who happen to be celebrities as a by-product of what they do. (But there are others who) don't want to work, have no interests, no passions, nothing and yet seem to be held up on pedestals," he said.

Keanu will give DNA in lawsuit

ALLEGATIONS Keanu Reeves is taking a DNA test to prove he's not the father of a Barrie, Ont., woman's children, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

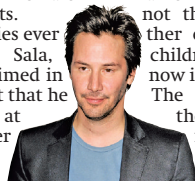

The actor denies ever meeting Karen Sala, 46, who has claimed in an Ontario court that he is the father of at least one of her four kids.

Reeves' lawyer Lorne Wolfson has advised the 45-year-old star to take a paternity test to "clear his name" and prove he is not the biological father of any of Sala's children — who are now in their 20s. The actor will take the test in the next four weeks. Sala is asking for $150,000 per month in child support — retroactive to June 1988 — and $3 million a month in spousal support, retroactive to November 2006.

Sala said: "This is not about revenge or an attack on his good character. It's about closure and getting some peace. This is a personal journey."

Happy 10th anniversary, Beckhams!

SO IN LOVE David Beckham didn't get his wife, Victoria Beckham, any ordinary anniversary gift to celebrate 10 years of marriage: He got a tattoo, people.com reports.

"Yeah, I got 10 roses around my arms," the 34-year-old soccer star told Ellen DeGeneres.

DeGeneres then wondered aloud if Beckham ever thinks about "getting a tattoo of me anywhere on your body." He replied: "I'm very tempted."

As for how he and Victoria, 35, keep their marriage fresh after 10 years and three kids, he said, "We always try to do special things. It's not always about buying gifts for each other. We just make sure that we spend time together or go for dinner together and do special things."

One of the things they did together was pose in some sexy Emporio Armani underwear ads. "We never get a chance to work together and when we do, it's amazing," he said. "It was great to work with her on the day."

Mischa gets a sober coach

A LITTLE HELP Mischa Barton has a "sober coach," femalefirst.co.uk reports.

Producers for the actress' new TV show The Beautiful Life have hired someone to stay with her at all times following her involuntary hospitalization in July.

A source said: "Mischa is doing great since she returned to work, but after a chat with show bosses she agreed she would appreciate some extra support."

The appointment of a sober coach comes after friends of the 23-year-old worried she was jeopardizing her recovery. Barton was seen partying in New York just days after she left hospital.
